

Volunteer Role Description

Role title:	Stop and Search Reasonable Grounds Panellist
Purpose of role:	The Reasonable Grounds Panel developed is an innovative police and community co-production approach to allow BTP further embed transparency and community voices within their stop and search powers oversight. This will allow BTP to capture an additional layer of insights from with interest from seldom heard communities. The Panel engages members of the public directly in determining whether individual officers have met the legal requirements for 'reasonable grounds' when using their powers, and provides the basis for follow-up action where it is deemed that this requirement has not been met. The Panel consists of both police officers and community members who assess the grounds or reasons given by officers for stopping and searching a member of the public. When the Panel decides that officers have not met the legal standard of conduct during stop and searches, officers are subject to an escalating scale of corrective actions, including training, coaching, and professional development. The corrective action is focused on lessons learnt and practice requiring improvement where possible. Good practice will be celebrated and positive feedback will be passed to officers as well.
